Springtime violence disrupts Las Trampas peace

The bare - chested young man in white Levis and the 300 - pounder sporting an orange tank top finally got tired of watching beer bottles go flying past their picnic table into the creek.

They wanted to continue their raucous poker game and drink their burgundy without distraction. But those beer bottles kept bouncing by. Pitched down the steep hillside by some youths a little bit younger, not quite so muscular - looking.

Sunday afternoon was bright and sunny in Las Trampas Regional Park. Elderly couples were strolling along the winding paths, admiring dazzling fields of mustard and poppies. Children were splashing in the creek. A large family group was picknicking near the big crowd of youths when the brawl started.

"Get a ranger! Call the police!" Bystanders began to cast around for some-one in the famhliar tan uniform of an East Bay Regional Parks worker.

It was then that the EBRPD strike suddenly became very real to the park visitors.

There's no public telephone anywhere near Las Trampas, which is located off Bilinger Canyon Road in Danville. Nor was there any uniformed park employe in evidence all afternoon. Not even a picket.

The EBRPD strike of naturalists and maintenance workers was wearing into its third week. Fewer personnel at the district's 29 parks had meant a sharp increase in vandalism. The seven EBRPD policemen who were on duty Sunday afternoon were spread thinner than ever because they were slowed down in their rounds by th vandalism reports they had to make.

Luckily, the beer brawl which had threatened to involve about 30 youths in their early 20's died down after an hour when one side brought in reinforcements on motorcycles and their antagonists drifted off. Beer brawls crop up often in the spring, according to Captain Tony Souza, head of the park district's law enforcement staff.

"It seems to be the thing to do, take your stereos and beer, party on a hillside," Souza observed. "Dies down in summer when people go away. It almost always involves young adults."

Souza said brawls may be headed off by naturalists or maintenance men on duty who report trouble brewing. Patrolmen (who until this year were called "rangers") when not tied up with vandalism reports go through their assigned parks on foot or in their cars, troubleshooting.

Recent acts of vandalism that have kept the district's scanty police force hopping have included pushed - over outhouses, scattered garbage and even the burning of a bathhouse complex at Las Lomas Regional Park, Antioch, last week.

Management employes have been trying to keep up with garbage pickup at all the parks while maintenance employes are on strike, but well - used parks such as Shadow Cliffs in Pleasanton are beginning to look untidy around the edges. EBRPD is not sending out enough lifeguards to patrol the swimming areas and is instructing the skeleton force of guards to keep people out of the water.

Meanwhile, strikers are chafing because they feel that to force the strike issues for which they have walked out, the parks should be well used and the work they normally would be doing should not be done by management.

Both strikers (who belong to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, Local 2428) and management are currently awaiting resumption of talks with state conciliator Tom Nicholopulos.

Union member Michael Ackley, assistant to the public relations director, called yesterday for General Manager Richard Trudeau to enter the negotiatinns personally.

Trudeau said his presence would violate the board's orders and "undercut the district's negotiating team."

Union spokesman Ackley said, "According to established principles of labor relations, if one set is unable to arrive at a solution, very often different personalities can result in a breakthrough. What is important here is not the protection of feelings of persons on the negotiating team, but a quick resolution of the issue."

The EBRPD management negotiating team includes James Marshall, chief labor negotiator, and Jerry Kent, assistant general manager.

Although 16 issues are being negotiated at present, the big one is a question of re - classifying a number of positions out of union into management, which the union has labeled "union busting" and bitterly opposed.

All regional parks remain open.

Citizens rap access to garbage transfer station

PLEASANTON - The limited access to the proposed transfer station on the extension of Valley Avenue (Bush Road) was the main focus of citizen anger Monday at a special meeting called by the city.

The more than 40 Amador Estates and Jensen Tract residents who attended that meeting were not completely satisfied with the city's efforts, but the majority of them seemed willing to work to provide an alternative access route to the transfer station site.

As proposed, Pleasanton Garbage Service would operate the transfer station (where garbage would be collected and moved onto large trucks for transfer to the Vasco Road dump site in Livermore) on a 7.5 acre parcel on Bush Road, more than a mile from Santa Rita Road.

The only existing route into that site is along the Valley extension , which turns into Bush Road. Although the intersection of Valley and Santa Rita will be realigned and signalized, the residents emphatically stated they would not be satisfied unless alternative routes are opened up so that all garbage trucks and "weekend dumpers" will not be funneled down Valley Avenue.

The citizens presented a petition to the city council which contained 514 people who urged the council to "recall their approval and reconsider the disadvantages of having an access at this location."

Two other access routes are ultimately planned---an extension of Valley through to Stanley Boulevard and extension of El Charro Road. The city has control over the Valley Avenue extension but, however, it would cost an estimated three to five million dollars and their are no funds for that project in the forseeable future.

Alameda County has control over the future of El Charro, which presently operates as a private road for the exclusive use of two gravel firms.

The county has long talked of completing that road and turning it into a public thoroughfare, although no specific plans are on the drawing boards.

Mayor Ed Kinney urged the residents to help Pleasanton generate pressure on the county to get El Charro completed.

Most of the citizens who attended the two hour meeting did not disagree with the proposed location of the transfer station itself, they were, however, concerned with the financial impact construction of that station might have on their garbage rates. City officials could not answer those concerns because of pending laeor negotiations, etc.

City Manager Bill Edgar, however, assurred the residents the garbage firm operates as a city franchise and, thus, is under the control of the city.

One of the other major concerns voiced was the potential litter problem along Valley Avenue and city officials promised that problem could be controlled through enforcement of the litter ordinance and hiring people to keep the road clean.

The citizens also expressed a worry about what might happen if Kolln Road, which runs along the back of the subdivisions, is opened onto Valley Avenue.

A present it deadends immediately prior to that intersection. While the city had planned to open up that road onto Valley, as a convenience to the people in those subdivisions, Kinney promised they would reassess that decision in light of the citizens' overwhelming opposition.

Cuts due if Sunol vote fails

SUNOL - Five certificated personnel and two or three classified will be cut if the May 27 tax increase measure for the Sunol Glen School District is not passed.

Superintendent-Principal George Bury, in announcing the members of the advisory committee that will work for passage of the measure, said two full-time teachers, one part-time, a nurse and librarian would probably have to be cut. Also, two or three members of the classified staff.

"During the past few years our school has been able to maintain an educational program of which our citizens have been proud," says Bury. "An increase at this time in local taxes for our school will maintain that quality program.

"As costs of supplies and materials continues to climb steadily, annual adjustments to the revenue limit are only a fraction of the increased costs. Thus our local school falls further behind," continues Bury. "This will lead to cuts in the education program."

Bury and the advisory committee contend that four critical steps would have to be taken, starting in September, if the revenue measure is not passed. These include doubling up of classes in kindergarten, first and second grades, discontinuing of librarian services as well as nurse's services, and cafeteria service.

The tax in the Sunol Glen School District is presently $2.076 per $100 assessed valuation. It would jump 43 cents to $2.509 for 1975-76 if the May 27 measure is passed. In succeeding years, it would go to $2.525, $2.551, $2.574 and $2.579 in 1979-80.

Estimated homeowners costs with various appraised values would be as follows: $32.48 for a $30,000 home, $43.30 for one valued at $40,000 and $54.13 for one at $50,000. This would be for the year 1975-76. The tax on each would increase $1.20, $1.60 and $2, respectively, in 1976-77.

Bury notes that Sunol Glen's voters last voted for a tax increase 19 years ago and the vote then was 68 to 38 in favor. There are presently about 350 registered voters in the Sunol district.

Preston Ledbetter is chairman and panelists include Herman Koopman, Vada Ulrech, Wayne Zimmerman, Joan Schneider, Davies and Nugent. The panel will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at Sunol Glen School. The public is invited to attend. — by Al Fischer

Signs of Spring

Birds do it; bees do it—even worker bees in apple trees do it . . . when it's Spring. The rains stop and blue skies spread warmth to budding flowers and prodigious bees in Mike Bailey's 6699 Alisal St. apple orchard—once the infamous "Chicken Alley" of World War II. But that's another story, and certainly not fit for Spring.

CEC negotiations slow

"We haven't felt any progress was being made until last Wednesday night" was the gloomy conclusion of Regina Paulus, chairperson of the Certificated Employes' Council (CEC) of the Murray Elementary School District, as she considered the state of the negotiations between the teachers' group and the district.

Although negotiations got off to a fairly early start and nine sessions have been held already, only two items — putting paychecks in envelopes and allowing teachers to pick up summer checks by June 30 — have been agreed upon.

Part of the problem came about as the result of a teacher attempt to clarify negotiations. The teachers came up with a 10 article package to negotiate from, including traditional items like salaries and the calendar, as well as some new proposals like a grievance procedure and a transfer and assignment procedure.

However, the district insisted that negotiations be based on present administrative and board policies and include the policy numbers of the items under discussion and until the district supplied a cross-index this past week, little was accomplished.

District representative Bill Crozier did reveal the cost analysis of the teacher's requests and that total came to $1,584,415 — some 40 per cent higher than in 1974. Of course, like any preliminary package, the teacher proposal has many items that will be discarded during negotiations without a whimper.

Others, however, will cause lengthy discussion, and the effect of the teacher deadline on negotiations is as yet unclear.

The teachers announced they will hold a mass meeting on May 20 and have set that date as a deadline for completion of negotiations on six major issues.

Naturally, salaries will cause some hassle, as the teacher request for a cost of living raise would amount to a 12 per cent increase — on top of the 5.2 per cent they already received to make up for last year's 3 per cent raise and the step and column increases that average out to approximately 4 per cent per teacher.

But there are other issues that could easily be unresolved by the May 20 deadline.

Today's the day to join the band

So you play the tuba, but never really had a chance to display those talents.

The clarinet has been hiding in the attic all these years, unused and unappreciated since you left school. The drum has a hole in it. The banjo is still missing a string.

All that talent will be put to use if plans for a "Pleasanton Community Band" meet with enough local response. The Adult Education School at Amador High is teaming up with the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee to help revivethat era when the "Town Band" was a major source of entertainment

If you want to join, or are just interested, tonight's the night, the Band Room at Amador High is the place, 7 until 10 p.m. are the hours. Show up, sign up, and then tune up. The nation's 200th birthday party can be a tuneful reminder of how lively Pleasanton was, way back when.

Murray pupil count to fall again

DUBLIN - The Murray Elementary School District expects enrollment to drop again during the 1975-76 school year, according to the budget which was presented to the board of trustees at Monday night's session at Frederickson School

The projected enrollment for 1975-76 is approximately 5,600 students, down from this year's average daily attendance of around 5,700

The board also heard two presentations from the Murray Educators Association (MEA). The first asks that the board levy the maximum tax rate allowable after the successful election in March, and the second would be to set a unilateral May 20 deadline for negotiations between teachers and the district.

The latter proposal continues that if an agreement is not reached by that date the teachers will hold a mass meeting and take appropriate action.

Nipper verdict delayed

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — The Alameda County Planning Commission compromised Monday and continued consideration of Carl Nipper's proposed Pleasanton Ridge project for four and a half months — until Sept. 8.

Nipper had requested a two-month continuance and Sunol residents opposed to the development had asked for a six-month continuance because they did not believe the problems associated with the project could be resolved in two months time.

Nipper is proposing to build 300 homes on a 460-acre linear parcel atop Pleasanton Ridge, paralleling Kilkare Canyon. The development, which would be called Rancho de la Cresta, has raised a storm of controversy among Sunol residents, who claim it would destroy their rural way of life.

Lynn Bowers, chairman of Sunol Citizens Organized Regarding the Environment (SCORE), told the commissioners the problems facing that development are the same problems that faced it last year.

He recited what he termed a "lack of list," saying the proposal lacks adequate sewers, access roads, fire protection, public services, conformance with the General Plan and public support. In addition, Bowers said, the project would "cause a significant adverse impact" on the area.

Bowers said SCORE would like the project denied and, if that cannot be done, would like to have it continued for "a substantial amount of time." He added he did not believe the problems facing Rancho de la Cresta "are solvable for 10 to 15 years."

Responding to questions from Commissioner Bill Carpenter, Bowers said SCORE represents "90 to 95 percent of the community." He added about 80 residents have contributed to a legal defense fund which would be used, if necessary, to block the development.

Fund starts for crash victim

PLEASANTON - A memorial fund for Mike Compton, the Amador Valley High School student killed Friday night in an auto accident on Hopyard Road, has been established at the school.

Jim Hollingsworth, auto shop teacher at Amador, said Compton had shown a great interest and considerable skill in auto mechanics and was to start trade school July 11 at Arizona Automotive School in Phoenix.

The memorial fund will go towards providing scholarships for industrial and vocational education students at Amador.

Those wishing to send a contribution may send a check made out to the Mike Compton Memorial Fun, care of Ralph Laird, principal, Amador Valley High.

Compton was a senior and had attended Amador almost four years.

Drunk charge follows death crash

PLEASANTON - Criminal charges of felony drunk driving were filed against Michael Cole, 20, of Pleasanton, following an early Saturday morning traffic accident in which 17-year-old Michael Compton was killed.

According to police reports the accident occurred shortly past midnight when Cole's car, northbound on Hopyard just south of Inglewood Drive, left the east edge of the road and overturned in the water - filled canal which runs parallel to the road.

Both youths were rushed to Valley Memorial Hospital where Compton was pronounced dead on arrival. Cole was treated for bruises and shock and later transferred to San Leandro's Fairmont Hospital, where he was released Monday afternoon.

Del Valle verdict due today

The fate of the Del Valle sanitarium and the 85 acre plot of land where it is located may be decided this morning at the Alameda County Board of Supervisors meeting on the fifth floor of the County Administration Building in Oakland.

Although the supervisors are not bound to make a decision today, they did reserve an hour for discussion of the three bids they opened at the last meeting

Only one of the bids came from a private individual while the other two were submitted by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District and the Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch. Charles Camenson of Danville also submitted a bid on the property.

LARPD and Buenas Vidas have indicated that their proposed uses of the site would not be incompatible with the other, as each group wants to use a different part of the sprawling complex.

The supervisors, however, have the option of refusing all the bids submitted at this point and waiting for a proposed use that they consider more suitable for the land.

Consideration of the firing of Dr. Mark Klein, the psychiatrist at Santa Rita, is also on the agenda. Klein allegedly is being terminated because of his criticism of the mental health care program at the aging prison and has filed suit in Superior Court. A hearing date is set for April 30 for Klein's suit.

Even if the supervisors terminate Klein at today's meeting, the firing will not be effective for 30 days, well after Klein's hearing date.

A further hearing on an abandoned and substandard building on Kilkare Road in Sunol will be held as a prospective owner of the property must describe his efforts to bring the building up to code.

The supervisors will also discuss Assemblyman John Knox(Democrat-Richmond) and Assembly Bill(AB) 625, which proposes a Bay Area Planning Agency. Supervisor Tom Bates requested discussion of Senator George Moscone's bill that would reduce penalties for marijuana use and possession and consequently that too is on the agenda.

Further discussion is also planned on revenue sharing monies and three emergency program sharing requests

School district eyes attendance boundaries

PLEASANTON - The Pleasanton Elementary School District board will conduct its second work session on school attendance boundaries Wednesday in the conference room at Harvest Park School.

The meeting is of potential importance to all parents of PESD children and begins at 8 p.m.

Under study are 11 prospective solutions, including ones backed by Del Prado homeowners (1B) and Educational Coordinates (II).

Wednesday's special elementary board meeting is actually just one of four sessions involving local school districts that evening.

At 6:30 p.m., the Amador Valley Joint High School District board will hold an executive session, the subject possibly being candidates for the vacant position on the board. The board will make an appointment at a special meeting Tuesday, April 29, 7:30 p.m., at Valley High School in Dublin. The meeting to name the appointee will preceed dedication of Valley High's new facility.

Details unclear

Courts merging—How?

On July 1, the oldest agency of justice in Alameda County will end more than 100 years of service to the people of the Livermore - Amador valley as the Pleasanton Judicial Court will be submerged in the expanding Livermore Municipal Court.

Although the combination of the two courts has been almost inevitable since the founding of the Municipal Court in Livermore and has been actively pushed for the last two years, the exact details of the merger are still unclear.

Hanging in the balance is the fate of the Pleasanton Judicial Court on Angela Street in Pleasanton, which presently houses Judge William Gale's court as well as serving as a general meeting room for the city of Pleasanton.

Originally, both judges were to sit in Livermore at the Municipal Court on S. Livermore Avenue after another court room was built and other office facilities were expanded, but now that consolidation will be delayed.

"It doesn't appear that the enlarged facilities at Livermore will be ready by July 1" said Gale last week and county officials indicated that it had still not been determined exactly how much extra space the new court would need in Livermore.

Eventually, the home of the court will be in the East County Government Center, which at this point is little more than a gleam in the eye of county officials and is not scheduled for completion until the 1980s.

"We're trying to get this thing as it should be" said Judge John Lewis of Livermore and added that he is trying to get the county to rent as much of the S. Livermore Avenue building as it can for the staff of the court.

All records and the computer containing the calendar and court files will be in Livermore but Lewis said that the Pleasanton facility will still be in use. Lewis feels that the Pleasanton court has more room than Livermore temporary court that will be added this summer.

The judges will retain the option of holding court in either city due to a modification in the ordinance setting up the consolidated Livermore Municipal Court presently before the Alameda County Board of Supervisors. The original ordinance was drawn up incorrectly and would have allowed the court to meet only in Livermore.

The Pleasanton building, like the Livermore facility, is leased by the county. The lease on the Angela Street court runs out on Dec. 31, 1976 and costs Alameda County $1175 per month. (The city subleases the building for meeting purposes for $300 a month.)

lifestyle

Relinquishing the duties as president of the Pleasanton Jaycees is not an easy task, in fact, at one point of the ceremony, it becomes quite an ordeal!

Jim Hertl, outgoing president of the Jaycees during their installation dinner held Saturday night at Howard Johnson's in Dublin, is one that found that out!

Just before the swearing in of the officers, a recessional line of Jaycees walk around the room carrying a chicken, (this year a real chicken, in the past a rubber chicken) filled with either whipped cream or shaving lotion and the joyful Jaycees sing, "Sweet Violets." It's not the song, but the anticipation when they get to the line, "covered all over with . . ." that gets to one. Usually at this point, the outgoing president has performed the first duty of passing on his title of president.

One would think this "ordeal" would discourage a new president from taking office, but Pat Geary proudly stood before the crowd taking his oath of duties from Gene Tatmon, National Director of Jaycees.

Other officers for the club include, Randy Kinst, internal vice president; Glenn Shafto external vice president; Rich Henne, secretary; Larry Backert, treasurer; Joe Masnaghetti, state director; Dick Sharp, Rich Everett, Eldon Warman and Bob Hermanson, directors and Jim Hertl, chairman of the board.

Tight youth job market

Know the score on summer jobs

By the Associated Press

Looking for a summer job? Finding one will be tough, but not impossible according to the experts. Here's some advice on how to go about finding work:

1. Use family contacts. The standard advice about checking relatives, friends and relatives of friends is still valid. Even when the job market is tight, people are more likely to hire someone they know.

2. Start early. Many resorts want people who can begin work on weekends in May, switch to a full-time job when school lets out, then continue into the fall on a part-time basis.

3. Apply at as many different places as possible and be willing to accept work in a variety of fields.

4. Learn how to type and take shorthand. A definite skill gives you a headstart.

5. Be prepared to do manual labor or take a menial job if you need the money.

6. Try local resort areas first. Many tourist spots and resorts prefer to hire local workers since they are sure of their availability.

7. Don't be surprised at low wages. Amusement parks and seasonal operations that hire large numbers of young people are not engaged in interstate commerce and may not pay the minimum federal wage of $2.10 per hour.

8. Know what you're looking for. Decide whether money or career experience is more important. A low - paying or volunteer job in the field you are studying may be worth more in the long run than a higher-paying job in an unrelated area.

9. Don't forget the possibilities of odd jobs like lawn-mowing, hedge - trimming, housecleaning, ironing, etc.

Government and private analysts predict more than five millions persons between the ages of 14 and 21 will be looking for work this summer. The always-tight summer job market has been further constricted this year by the problems of the economy, since high unemployment means adults workers will be competing with young people, as well as retired people who need extra income.

Many placement officers are advising students seeking employment to add to college funds to settle for less than they would have a few years ago.

Warriors—or a facsimile—will return

Post graduate basketball will apparently return to the Valley regardless of the outcome of June talks between Western and national Basketball Association officials.

"If the NBA doesn't pull things out for us (with player and monetary subsidies), we'll probably return to semi-pro or AAU status," said Ernie Lazzereschi, general manager of the Tri-Valley Warriors, Pleasanton's all but forgotten entry in the beleaguered WBA.

Barring the hoped-for massive working agreement with the big timers — supposedly, the NBA's Pacific Division clubs would each supply players and have a say in the operation of a Western club — a return to amateur status would be the only financially sound choice for the league.

For a while the Sacramento Prospectors operate a full-scale minor league operation, complete with a radio contract, the two final playoff series competitors are skeleton operations. Very thin skeletons.

The Warriors have had their franchise eroded bit by bit since mid-season.

The high water mark, in terms of attendance, came when 700 fans — 405 paid — showed up for Willie Wise's debut with Tri-Valley. By the end of the regular season the fans were just a segment of the persons not showing up.

At the conclusion of the campaign disgruntled visiting clubs found that their statistics would never be complete — the one-time five-man stat team had dwindled away to the official scorer and nothing more.

Wednesday night Lazzereschi threw open the gates at Amador Valley High, inviting the world in free to witness the opening game of the fourth annual WBA championship series.

A grateful community, responding to the two-inch fillers that have replaced eight-column banner headlines as the Warriors share of local newspaper space, turned out in such numbers that some fans were forced to sit as far as ten feet from midcourt.

The underflow throng of 27 even got the chance to participate in the 123-118 San Jose Winchester victory. The call went out for volunteers when T-V's usual 24-second clock operator failed to show and former Diablo Valley College player Robert Read, who had come to watch his brother, Warrior playmaker Duane, filled the spot with only minor foul-ups.

San Jose, on the other hand, provided an example of how economic emergencies have turned vices to virtues in the WBA. The Winchesters showed up with just seven players. Once, when the league had ambitions other than living through the 74-75 season, to suit up less than eight was a 50-dollar fine.

San Jose had recently fired Norm Skinner for refusal to make road trips — he no doubt had had enough of the effects of van lag — and merely said goodbye when Vince Lombard returned to hir native Louisiana.

The result was a rather pathetic exercise in slapstick humor.

Two Winchesters fouled out in the waning moments of the game, forcing player-coach Robert Scotlan, the sleepy-eyed forward from Portland State, to send Eric Saulny back into the game.

No big deal if you discard the fact that the frail guard had suffered an excruciating ankle injury in the third quarter and was no longer wearing a shoe or socks on his left foot.

"Just stan' on the court, man," were Scotlan's instructions to the key sub. So Saulny remained planted near the sidelines, dodging the more active players and wearing a grin that revealed the lunacy of the situation, as the final seconds ticked off the clock.

Many of the WBA's problems in its first pro season were probably due to too generous an estimate of its own worth.

The Warriors made known at the beginning of the season that they had working agreements with two major league teams, the Golden State Warriors of the NBA and the ABA Denver Nuggets.

While Tri-Valley spent the entire season running Golden State plays, provided by coach Al Attles, no player transactions were ever made between the clubs. The Rockets interest waned considerably when 6-10 center Vern Hubbard departed Tri-Valley just prior to the start of the regular season, citing "personal problems" and a slow-healing back injury.

Despite the singularly unimpressive conclusion to the WBA's maiden voyage across the sea of professionalism, GM Lazzereschi, who once confided to then coach John Phillips that he was considering quitting, seems more enthused than ever about the prospect of another try.

"I've talked to a few of our players about returning, and it seems as though we could have almost the same team next season," he conjectured.

In addition it appears that coach Don Griffin, once the Warriors top guard has taken a liking to directing the club.

Griffin, who accepted the job with considerable reluctance, recently abandoned his playing role completely in order to concentrate on coaching.

Of the former Stanford star, Lazzereschi said, "Grif's a good coach. If he wants the job next year, he can have it."

With an at least temporarily enthusiastic coach-GM tandem, the Tri-Valley question, for now, would seem to be where and for what the Warriors will play next seaso.

Dynamites prevail while Lilies wilt

The Dublin Dynamites found a second wind, but the Livermore Tiger Lilies ran out of gas in the Girls State Cup soccer finals Sunday at Aquatic Park in Pleasanton.

According to their coaches, that's why the Dynamites topped the Pleasanton Flyers, 1-0, and the Lilies fell to Sacramento, 5-2.

The two contests wound up the first ever State Cup for girls which covered two days at the Aquatic Center.

The winning goal came with one minute left in the first of two mandatory 10-minute overtime periods. Teri Gonsalves scored on excellent passes from Shelly Sheri Snyder and Rene Moss.

Snyder, the halfback, carried the ball up the right wing, and dumped off the Moss. She charged the nearly open net, but suddenly dropped the ball to Gonsalves. "Everybody was expecting Rene to shoot," coach Geri Golish said. "But she told me later that something just clicked, and so she passed off to Terry. It was just a reaction thing.

Gonsalves planted the ball in the right corner, and Dublin had the victory practically won.

The rest depended on a dog-tired defense that played the entire game. "I had only 15 girls and I couldn't substitute once for my defense," Golish said. "The defense just really played outstanding. Without them we wouldn't have won it."

Besides testing their condition with the overtimes, the Dynamite defenders were playing on a larger field at Aquatic Center, then they normally use at Dublin.

Halfbacks Lynette Lescano, Shelly Moss and Snyder, and fullbacks Kim Iverson, Annamarie Scheibli and Ann Osbeck were outstanding. Kim Garza was excellent in goal for the Dynamites.

Coach Tom Holdsworth's under-18 Tiger Lilies couldn't muster the energy late in the game, and dropped the 5-2 decision to Sacramento.

The Lilies led at halftime, 1-0, and briefly in the second half, 2-1. If the 2-1 margin had held up for a couple of more minutes, coach Tom Holdsworth said the game could have changed. "My defense was tired, and I was going to change to a defensive set, drop my two strikers back. But when they tied it 2-2, I had to keep attacking, and I couldn't rest the defense. In the final 15 minutes, Sacramento wore down Livermore, scoring three times to win it.

Livermore golfers in easy victory

With four golfers equalling or bettering the performance of Dublin ace Chris Cantalini, Livermore's golf team yesterday dealt the Gaels a decisive 193-209 defeat.

Jeff Smith paced the Cowboys with a 37, and Keith Voelker followed with a 38. Another stroke back, Cantalini and Livermore players Neil Zurakowski and Steve Scontriano engaged in a three-way deadlock.

Mike Lewis and Mark Voelker carded 40's to lock up the match for the Cowboys.

Mustangs ninth in EB, face 'Pokes today

Monte Vista High, ninth ranked in the East Bay this week, seeks to turn around a long scoring stall, and resume its climb towards an EBAL baseball championship this afternoon.

The Mustangs, who tied Dublin, 2-2, but failed to score in the last 15 innings, will face Livermore in Danville at 3:30.

Monte Vista is 3-0 in the EBAL (not counting the Dublin tie), and Livermore is 2-2.

The Mustangs were stopppd by John Prieto on six hits Friday, striking out 14 times They will face another strikeout specialist today, Livermore's Keith Richardson.

Monte Vista dropped to ninth place this week in the East Bay Prep Poll, after being rated eighth last week. The Mustangs are the only EBAL team in the top 15. Livermore, Granada, Dublin Amador Valley and San Ramon all received honorable mention.

Today San Ramon tries to snap Granada's two-game win streak in a 3:30 game at Livermore.

Jayne and Donna lead Amazons by Shamrocks

Jayne Kuhns crashed two home runs and drove in eight runs, and Donna Guglielmo knocked in six as the Amazons beat the Shamrocks, 22-8 in Pleasanton Bobby Sox softball.

Guglielmo and Julie Bangart both trippled for the winners. Patty Gadd singled twice to drive in fnur runs.

The Shamrocks' Kris Brittain homered for three RBI's.

The Thunderbirds belted the Super Stars, 12-0, on the hitting of Ann Peterson, Teresa Sanders and Cindy Stout.

The Jazzy Janes outlasted the Ms. Fits, 28-21. Jamie Papas had four hits and three runs batted in, and Theresa Bonnell had two RBI's.

The Roadrunners pushed across four runs in the fifth inning to top the Marigolds, 9-7. Ann Bowling singled home two runs for the winners, and Sheril Hamilton had two hits. Helen Steyer had two RBI's for the Marigolds.

The Parakeets plucked the Sweetpeas, 29-7, on Mana Mason's five hits, and four by Kelly DaPrato. Sharon Walker collected three hits for the losers.

LIVERMORE — Valley residents examined electric motors, tasted some luscious health foods, signed a Sierra Club petition to preserve the ridgelands and carried off armloads of plants at Saturday's Ecology Fair at The Barn.

All fired up about ecology, they read instructions about recycling cans and resolved to use their bikes more for those short trips around town. They even considered buying a $90 henhouse which is said to be designed for composting as well as keeping chickens without need for a fenced backyard.

"But," said one bystander, "you can only keep one chicken in your backyard in Livermore, and that only with a chicken permit."

The undaunted "Biosposal Systems" representative from Martinez went on showing off his trim looking little henhouse to admirers from outside the city limits.

Meanwhile, outdoors in the drizzle city officials were taking a morning jaunt with members of the Valley Spokesmen bicycling club to see the success and failure of the various types of bike paths that have been laid down in Livermore in recent years.

Mrs. Donna Robson, a teacher at Portola School, won the colorful Bicentennial needlepoint sampler offered at a benefit drawing as a fund-raiser for the Livermore Bicentennial Organization. The prize was made by Mrs. Wanda Finn of the Organic Garden Club.

"Who wants a rear view of a fair?" wonders this easy rider, whose efforts to see it from mom's side was in vain.

Recycling everything from magazines to bleach bottles was the theme of this exhibit.

These children recycled turns for a ride on a real live pony. Or is it a mule

For Tuesday, April 22, 1975

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a knack today for managing others that will work to everyone's advantage. Call the shots as you see them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A small opportunity will arise. It could add to your resources if you handle it correctly. Be alert. It will take some maneuvering.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Positive steps can be taken now regarding a serious matter that's been on your mind lately. Get in touch with the other parties.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't let any more time go by with one who is indebted to you. Try now to arrange a partial settlement.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't make any abrupt changes in your routine today without first considering the consequences. Proven methods are your best bet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your chances of accomplishing what's best for you today are good provided you keep your reasons and motives to yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A situation will arise with a friend that could be awkward, but if you handle it as you did formerly no feathers will be ruffled.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The seed of something profitable that you had sown awhile back is about to bear fruit. Be patient a bit longer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Review advice given recently by one you're closely associated with. It contains an answer you're now seeking.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be called upon where work is concerned to perform outside your normal duties. You'll also receive extra dividends.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A relationship with one you've met socially will begin to develop into something more profound. You two have much to share.

Your Birthday

April 22, 1975

You'll take on more management-type responsibilities this year, either with your peer group or with your work. In either case you'll be adequately compensated.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

At first glance today's hand presents little of interest. The defense starts with two heart tricks. Later on, declarer will lose a trump finesse, but win a club finesse and wind up making exactly 10 tricks.

Now let's watch the same hand played in a very tough rubber bridge game. East wins the first heart and promptly shifts to his singleton diamond. If South wins in his own hand and tries the spade finesse, East will take his king, lead a heart to his partner and ruff a diamond for his fourth trick. If South refuses the trump finesse and plays ace and one spade the same thing happens since East holds three spades.

Nevertheless the expert declarer can handle this defense. He assumes that East holds both black kings for his opening bid so he wins the diamond in dummy and takes a club finesse. Then he cashes his ace of clubs, enters dummy with the ace of trumps, leads dummy's jack of clubs and discards his losing heart on East's high club.

This loser-on-loser play leaves East all ready to ruff a diamond, but with no way to get the lead over to his partner.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You do bid four spades and your partner bids five hearts. What do you do now?

Yummy homecoming

Granada High School Food Education and Service Training (FEAST) students decorated this 18 by 26-inch cake, complete with the Marine Corps emblem, on commission from the parents of former Del Valle High School student Will Robinson. The cake was part of a surprise party to welcome Will home last weekend from Marine boot camp at El Toro. FEAST students, under the direction of Marge Henry, decorated the chocolate cake with white, yellow, blue and red frosting. The students will enter the Culinary Olympics at Canada College in Redwood City next month.

Farm income dropped 8.1% in 1974

Farmers in the valley and throughout Alameda County endured an overall 8.1% drop in gross income in 1974, a report from the Alameda County Department of Agriculture revealed, but some crops managed to avoid the downturn and chalk up impressive gains.

Perhaps the most spectacular jump in the valley was in sugar beet cultivation. Fueled by the sugar shortage, the total income from sugar beet sales nearly doubled with tonnage rose 49.7%.

Safflower farmers, too, increased their acreage in 1974 over 1973 and saw a consequent huge jump in total income. Safflower farming brought $371,000 in income to the valley in 1974 after producing only $60,400 in 1973.

Strawberries for the market also jumped quite a bit in 1974, as those farmers in the Sunol area averaged 78% more income despite a slight drop in acreage farmed. Oddly, strawberries for the frozen food industry fell of 15% in area and 20% in income in 1974.

Vineyards endured a slight drop in total tonnage of grapes produced but suffered a large drop in total income last year. Grapes for white wine brought in 32.2% less in 1974 than they did in 1973, while black grapes dropped off 45%.

The Pleasanton cucumber farmers earned 12% more in 1973, if they followed the county averages, while harvesting fewer cucumbers. Overall, the county suffered a 4.2% drop in income from vegetable farming.

The plummeting price of cattle in 1974 hit home in Alameda County as well as in the Midwest, as income from cattle and calf sales fell off by 34% last year. Consequently, however, the cattle inventory rose by 5% while other livestock inventories dropped sharply.

The average price per hundredweight of beef dropped 38.5% in 1974, from $52 in 1973 to $32 last year.

Walnut producers, about one-third of whom are located in the valley, suffered a small decline in income in 1974 (5.3%) despite a large rise in total tonnage (32%).

Nursery producers, mostly from the Fremont area, enjoyed a 10% rise last year, but due to a large poultry grower and Costa Dairy going out of business, income from livestock and poultry products tumbled by 86%.

The outlook for 1975 has been clouded somewhat by the recent heavy rains and "things are set back considerably," according to John Johnston of the county.

Range and pasture growth is down, he reports, and prices for feed could rise in the late summer and fall of the coming year. However, a good warm growing season could keep valley crops at a high level of production for 1965.

County farmers are hoping to improve on last year's $36,893,700 gross income and perhaps even top 1973's record income of over $40,000,000.

New school talks scheduled

LIVERMORE - Plans for the new school to be built on the Christensen site will be discussed at a special neighborhood meeting Wednesday evening.

The April 23 gathering at 7:30 p.m. will be attended by Leo Croce, superintendent of schools; Rudy D'Ambra, director of facilities management; Jack Waggoner, director of elementary education; and staff members.

Parents will be asked for their ideas on the new "core school," which will house some 600 kindergarteners through sixth graders who are now attending Green School in the Altamont area and the portables on the Christensen site in the Greenville tract.

A "core school" is a permanent building, featuring offices, library, multi - purpose room and other facilities, attached to portables.

The meeting will be in Room 2.

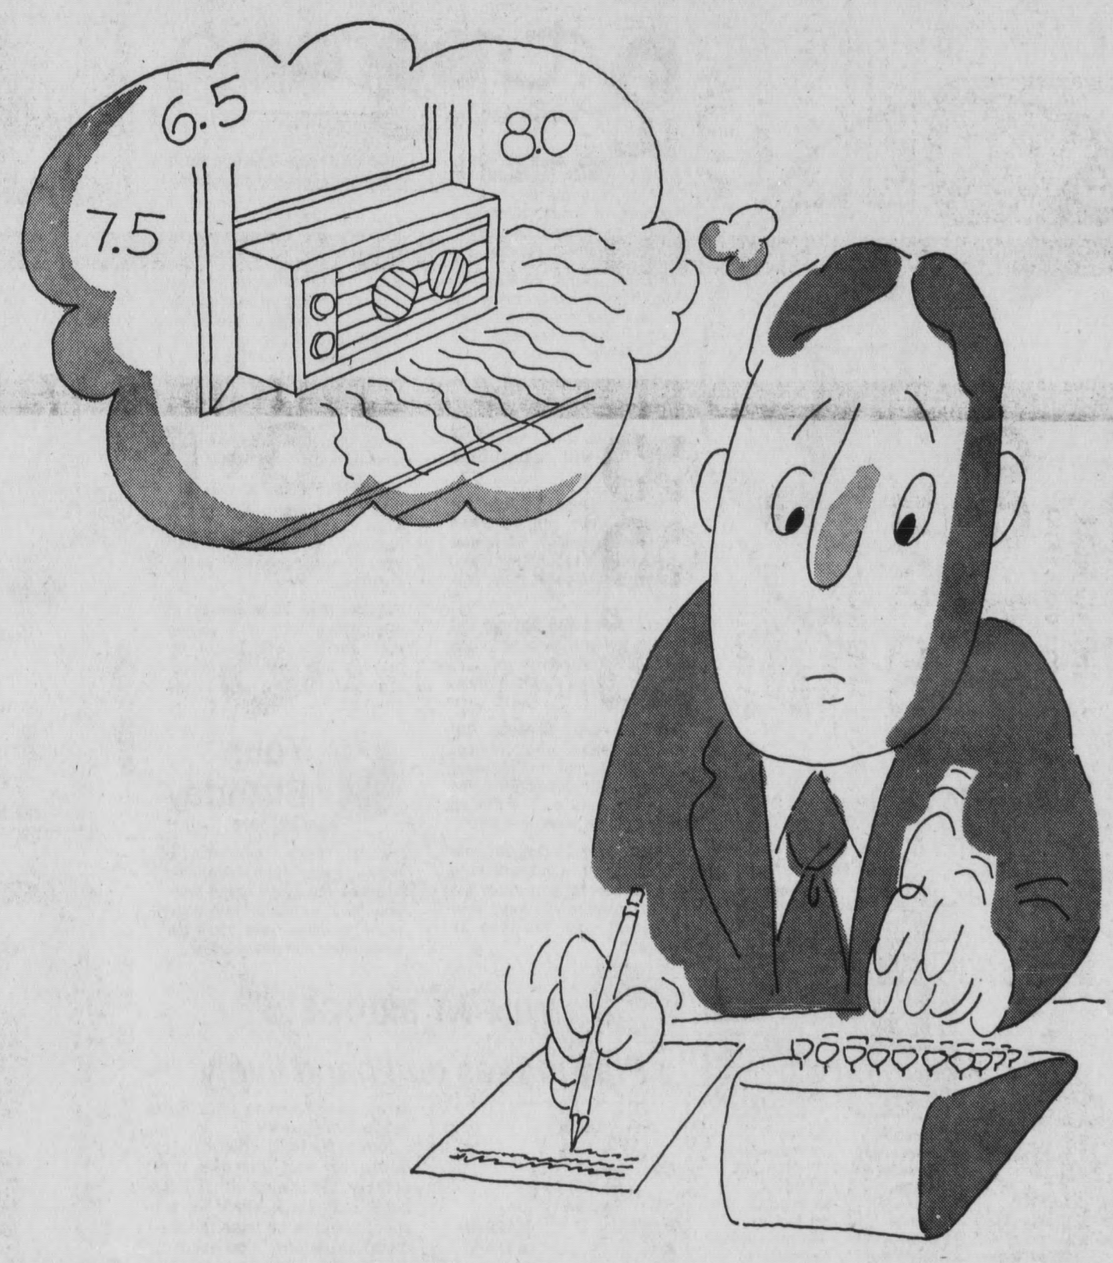
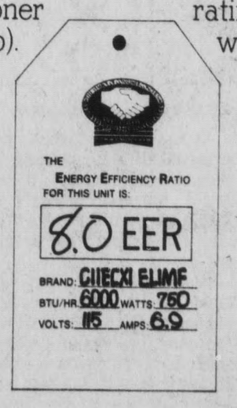
EER EXPLAINED.



The easy way to figure out how to get the most efficient room air conditioner for your money.

We're not encouraging you to buy a new or replacement air conditioner. But if you do, then get a unit that will give you the most cooling with the least electric use. That's an air conditioner with a high EER (Energy Efficiency Ratio). Here's how you determine the EER of a room air conditioner.

EER Simplified: All the information you need is shown on the unit. To get the EER, simply divide the cooling BTUs by the watts. Like this: 6,000 BTU ÷ 750 watts = 8.0 EER. EER numbers range from 4½ to 12. The higher the EER, the more efficient the air conditioner. PG&E recommends an EER of 7 or more for economy in room air conditioners.



EER Simpler Yet: Air conditioner dealers displaying the "We Care" sign have room air conditioners already tagged with the EER rating. So look for the yellow tag and you won't have to do any figuring at all.

What a high EER means to you: A high EER means you're getting the most cooling comfort for your money. Some room air conditioners use a lot less electricity than others for the same amount of cooling. A unit with an EER of 8.0, for example, uses 30% less electricity than one with an EER of 5.6. So look for a high EER. You'll cut your cooling costs. And you'll conserve energy, too.

Math classes added to Pleasanton summer session

PLEASANTON — With the exception of a couple math classes being added and procedure established for students who wish to attend on a part-time basis, the Pleasanton Elementary School District board Wednesday morning finalized plans for the 1975 summer session.

The additional math classes were placed in the schedule after a comment by trustee Karen Finn at a recent regular board session. She had also asked if the length of the summer session could be altered. Mrs. Finn's specific question concerned whether the session could be broken into segments, possibly of 2½ weeks each. It was determined that breaking the 24-day total session into segments was not the best way to go legally.

As matters now stand, summer school will begin on June 23 and end on July 25. Classes for grades 1-3 will begin at 8:45 a.m. and close at 12:45 p.m. Fourth through eighth graders will attend from 8:15 to 12:15.

Primary grades will attend summer school at Alisal while 4-8 grade students living at Castlewood, Sycamore, Happy Valley, Mission Park, Vintage Hills, Jensen Tract, Amador Estates, Rose Pointe and the downtown area will attend Pleasanton Elementary. Students living in Komandorski, Pleasanton Meadows, Del Prado, and Pleasanton Valley will attend summer session at Harvest Park School.

Summer school principal will be David Cook.

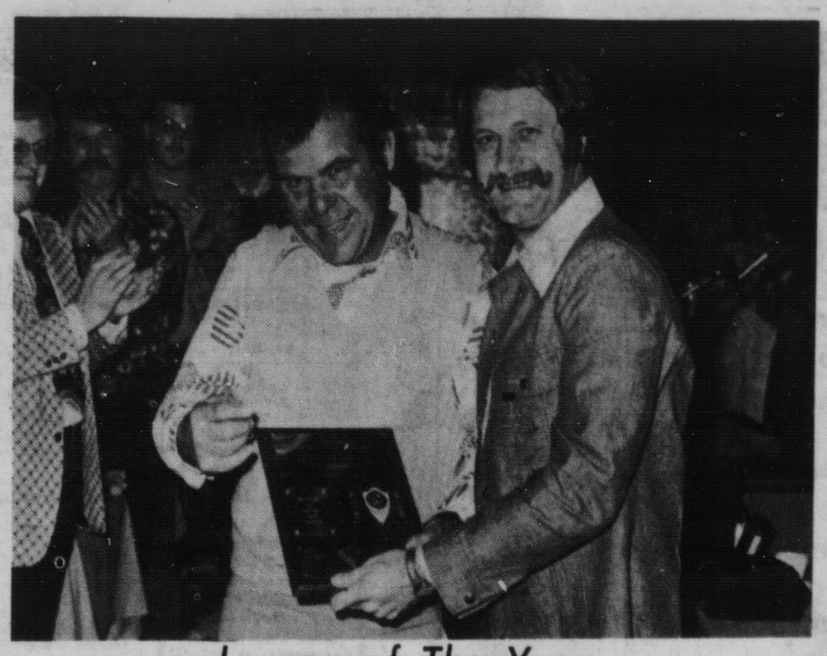
Moraga tabs Mott as parks director

The newly - formed city of Moraga has landed a top notch administrator for its fledgling Parks and Recreation Authority in William Penn Mott, former state parks and recreation director.

Mott also was general manager of the East Bay Regional Parks District and has worked with the National Parks Service.



Jaycee of The Year

Skip Skinner of the Pleasanton Jaycees was named as the "Jaycee of The Year," at the club's 20th annual installation dinner. Shown here making the presentation to Skip is outgoing president, Jim Hertl. Skip was given the club's top award for his outstanding services during his years with the club. His thank you speech was; "I'm not going to work on any projects this next year." That very comment is what earned Skip the honor. He always makes that statement, but is the first to show up to work on any project. Bob Gary will be the new Jaycee president.

Widowed workshop offered

Chabot College will offer a free six-week workshop for widowed persons to aid in the physical and emotional adjustments accompanying the loss of a spouse.

Legal and financial issues that confront a survivor will be explored with an attorney and a financial consultant, along with tips on home management and family relationships.

A medical doctor from the University of California at Davis School of Family Medicine will discuss the physical problems and mental problems inherent in a husband/wife death.

Coordinator for the program is Virginia Deaton, who is widowed herself, and has taught Home Economics and been active in consumer education in the Bay Area.

Interested individuals may register at 6 p.m. on May 6 at Chabot College in Hayward. For further information, call Chabot at 782-300, ext. 376 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Jim Walbolt, 27, is the manager of the new North Pleasanton office of the Bank of America located at 6280 West Los Positas Boulevard which will hold an open house on Thursday, May 8 and open for business on Friday, May 9.

Bank open house in Pleasanton

Bank of America will hold an open house for its new North Pleasanton office at 6280 West Los Positas Boulevard on Thursday, May 8 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Jim Walbolt, 27, of Concord has been appointed manager of the new facility. He graduated from the University of Iowa, joined the Bank of America in 1970 and has advanced through positions of increasing responsibility at offices in Grass Valley, San Francisco, San Pablo, Concord, and Livermore.

The new office will offer a full range of banking services and operate two drive-up windows. The service windows will provide customers with extended banking hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday.

A modular structure of about 3,200 square feet, the new office features an exterior of grooved plywood with a box fascia overhang. Inside, eight work stations are located along the tellers' line and three work stations on the officers' platform.

All local residents and merchants are invited to inspect the new quarters. Refreshments will be served and souvenir gifts presented, and a dixieland band from Amador High School will provide musical entertainment throughout the evening.

Visitors will also be eligible to register in a drawing for a one-week trip to hawaii for two persons and $250 in BankAmerica Travelers Cheques.

The new quarters will open for business on Friday, May 9.

Blackhawk boundaries talks set

The boundaries of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District(CCCSD), which include the proposed Blackhawk development, will come under the scrutiny of Contra Costa's Local Agency Formation Commission(LAFCO) this Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Martinez.

CCCSD presently serves the San Ramon Valley north of the Valley Community Services District and LAFCO Executive Director Joseph Connery has suggested keeping Blackhawk under the jurisdiction of CCCSD.

Conceivably, however, LAFCO could put that area under the control of the East Bay Municipal Utilities District or the Contra Costa Water District.

However, LAFCO is not bound to make a decision this week although it made a similar decision concerning west Contra Costa County at its last meeting.
